Jonathan Miller is the President and CEO of Miller Samuel Inc., a real estate appraisal and consulting firm he co-founded in 1986. Miller Samuel provides appraisal and consulting services for up to $5 billion in property annually in the New York City metropolitan area. Jonathan is a U.S. real estate market analyst and a state-certified real estate appraiser in New York and Connecticut, providing court testimony as an expert witness in local, state, and federal courts across the U.S. He holds The Counselors of Real Estate® (CRE®) designation and is an Appraiser "A" Member of the Real Estate Board of New York. Jonathan served as a two-term President of RAC, a national appraiser organization specializing in valuation solutions for complex residential properties.

Since 1994, Mr. Miller has authored an expanding series of market reports for Douglas Elliman Real Estate, covering the New York City metro area, South Florida, Southern California, and other markets. Media, financial institutions, and government agencies, including the Federal Reserve, the Internal Revenue Service, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the NYC Office of Management and Budget, and the New York State Budget Division Economic Advisory Board, rely on these reports. He co-authored a research paper for the NYU School of Law and the NYU Wagner Graduate School of Public Service's Furman Center for Real Estate and Urban Policy, titled "The Condominium v. Cooperative Puzzle: An Empirical Analysis of Housing in New York City," which was published in 2007 by the Journal of Legal Studies at the University of Chicago. He has guest lectured at Columbia University, Harvard University, NYU/Schack Institute Wharton/University of Pennsylvania, Drexel University, Baruch College, and Touro College.

Mr. Miller teaches market analysis as an Adjunct Associate Professor of Architecture, Planning, and Preservation in the Master of Science in Real Estate Development (MSRED) Program at Columbia University. He has authored the widely read newsletter HousingNotes.com since 2015. Mr. Miller serves on the New York City Mayor's Economic Advisory Panel, representing the residential real estate sector. He has participated in studies at various institutions, including New York University, Princeton University, Columbia University, Baruch College, and the Urban Land Institute. He is a respected real estate commentator, discussing U.S., regional, and local housing issues across various print, online, television, and radio outlets, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, Bloomberg, Financial Times, Reuters, AP, CNBC, CNN, ABC, and others.
