Average and median sales prices reached new highs for the third consecutive quarter.

Sales continued to rise and prices reached new highs. Median sales price cracked the million-dollar threshold for the first time. The median sales price increased 7.7% annually to $1,050,000, the highest on record. The average sales price followed the same pattern, rising 11.6% year over year to $1,388,463, the highest on record. Sales continued to rise, driven by the expansion of listing inventory. There were 2,705 sales, marking the fourth consecutive annual gain, with a 7.1% increase this time. In a market challenged by low listing inventory for more than a decade, supply expanded for the sixth consecutive quarter. There were 3,417 listings, up 16.3% from the same period last year. With sales rising somewhat slower than listings, market activity eased slightly. The months of supply, how long it takes to sell all listings at the current sales rate, stood at 3.8 months, 8.6% slower than the previous year's quarter and nominally slower than the decade average of 3.4 months. The market share of cash sales was 47.9%, down slightly from the 53.2% record set in the same quarter last year. Cash sales have maintained a market share above the forty percent threshold for the past two years. The share of bidding wars was 22%, down from 23.4% last year. In bidding wars, the average premium was 7.7% over the asking price. The bidding war record was set three years ago at 30.6% coming out of the pandemic era. The listing discount, the average difference between the last asking price and the final sale price, was 1.1%, lower than the prior year quarter average of 2.2% and the decade average of 3%. The days on market averaged 59 days, down 9.2% from 65 days in the year-ago quarter and significantly lower than the third quarter decade average of 84 days. The luxury segment, which accounted for the top 10% of sales, starting at $2,415,000, the highest on record, saw a record median sales price of $3,191,500, up 6.4% from last year. Using a price threshold of $2 million, sales below the threshold decreased by 4.4% year over year, while sales above the threshold increased by 26.6%. The non-luxury market, which accounts for the remaining 90% of sales in the quarter, saw the average and median sales price rise more than 6% to new records. New development condo sales surged 29.3% year over year to 366. New development sales accounted for 13.5% of the borough's closings and 41.4% of its condo sales. The median sales price for new development condos was $1,365,500, up 28.8% from the previous year. The jump was largely attributable to the 40.1% surge in average sales size of new development sales to 1,585 square feet, and a new high.
